

Session 3 Benefitting from multilingualism across the curriculum

- Reflecting on the needs of your own diverse students
- Building on the linguistic diversity of learners and encouraging them to draw on their experience and skills
- Developing a plurilingual dimension in different subjects
- Reflecting on multilingualism for all

Thinking about our learners: Neslihan

- Neslihan only uses one language per context never both (diglossia); why is this a problem?
- Neslihan has everyday English (BICS) but struggles with academic English (CALP)
- Neslihan doesn't make connections between her first language, English and her foreign language at school (Spanish)

Thinking about our learners: Yasmine

- Yasmine does not understand what is going on in class
- Yasmine (and the teacher) does not know she has academic skills (CALP) in Arabic – these are developed in her first language
- Yasmine does not transfer her abilities in other languages or use one language to help her to understand another

Thinking about our learners: Kevin

- Kevin is monolingual his mother tongue is English
- Kevin thinks the regional language variety spoken by his grandparents has no value
- He doesn't see the point of learning other languages
- He isn't comfortable when other pupils speak other languages around him – he isn't open to other languages and cultures

Thinking about our own practices

- Share what may happen in your school/classroom if Neslihan/Yasmine/Kevin were in your lesson.
- What are the positive/negative aspects of that (thinking about the myths)?
- How might you bring their languages into the classroom?
- (If time) Jot down as many reasons as you can why plurilingualism should be supported in the classroom.

Benefits for the plurilingual individual

- linguistic benefits, e.g. accessing information and communicating in a range of languages; enhanced competence and sensitivity in using their linguistic repertoire;
- enhanced cognitive skills, e.g. cognitive flexibility, concept formation, openness to diverse ways of expressing ideas, increased attentional control and working memory;
- health benefits, e.g. delaying age-related dementia;
- social benefits, family, friends etc;
- employment opportunities
- intercultural awareness, including critical awareness of their own cultural assumptions and acceptance of different perspectives.

Plurilingualism and pluriculturalism in content teaching

Educational institutions increasingly face the challenge of accommodating learners from a wide range of linguistic and cultural backgrounds in their classrooms. The training kit presents an innovative way of managing diversity in the classroom by combining plurilingual and pluricultural approaches with content-based instruction. The reader will discover how content-based and plurilingual activities can be linked to several subjects of the curriculum.

This website presents sample activities which illustrate the approach outlined in the rationale. A primary school teacher will, for example, find an activity suitable for mathematics, sports and/or music and a secondary school teacher of civic, social and political education may be interested in testing out plurilingual comparative text work on the theme of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

ABOUT THE TRAINING KIT

WHO IS IT FOR?

- primary and secondary school teachers working with learners from different linguistic and cultural backgrounds
- teacher trainers looking for a training kit with very practical resources
- educational inspectors and decision-makers faced with accommodating diversity in the school curriculum.

THE TRAINING KIT

The training kit shows in which way the languages and cultures present in the classroom can be developed as a cross-curricular resource at primary and secondary level. It offers twenty-six content-based didactic units in English, French and Spanish to be used in classrooms.

CONBAT+ an example

Motion in the ocean by Martine Kervran

Target group

9-14

Subjects

Geography & Physical Sciences

Aims

- Learn about the location and names of the main oceans in the world
- Identify the main causes for water movement in the ocean.
- Explore the relationships between wind and ocean waves.
- Learn about storms at sea

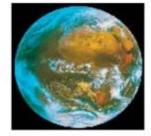

MULTILINGUAL CLASSROOMS

1. THE OCEANS IN THE WORLD

WORKSHEET 1

Why does the water of the sea move?

1- Read the definitions and label the map

Oceans cover nearly 71% of the Earth's surface.

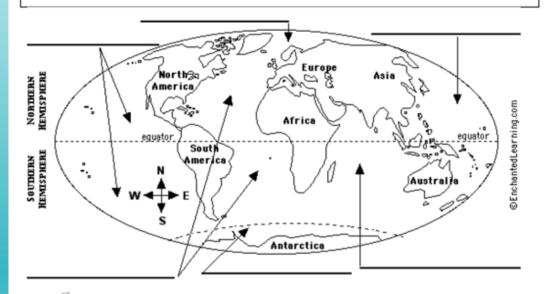

The Pacific Ocean is the largest ocean and borders the five continents.

The Atlantic Ocean's neighbouring seas include the Mediterranean Sea, the North Sea and the Baltic Sea.

The Arctic Ocean is the smallest ocean. It surrounds the North Pole. It is frozen all the time, except at its edges.

The Southern Ocean is where you'll find Antarctica and the South Pole.

The Indian Ocean borders areas from the southern hemisphere.

WORKSHEET 3: MULTILINGUAL OCEAN!

Look at the translations of the world ocean in a few different languages and try to answer these questions

Language	The word ocean
German	ozean
French	océan
Italian	oceano
Russian	океан
Danish	ocean
Deutch	oceaan
Spanish	océano
Portuguese	oceano
Swedish	ocean

know	best/	your c	lassm	ates a	nd teach	er will	help y	ou if	necess	ary)

What do you notice?
Can you guess why?
Can you write the word ocean in any other language(s)? If so, add it to the list above

There are various kinds of storms at sea that are given different names. Those names depend on the region of the world where those phenomena generally occur.

1- Link each English word to the original word you think it comes from.

English word	original word
Hurricane	Kyklōma
Typhoon	津波
Tsunami	Huracan
Cyclone	台风

2- Try to find out what is the name of each of those languages

The word hurricane comes from.....

The word typhoon comes from......

The word tsunami comes from......

The word cyclone comes from......

3- Look for a definition of each term in a dictionary and write it down:

Hurricane:

Typhoon: -----

Tsunami: -----

Cyclone: -

Answer sheet

The word hurricane came to English from the Spanish word huracán. Spanish explorers and conquerors took the word from the Taino word, meaning storm. Taino is an extinct language from the Bahamas.

The word typhoon comes from the Chinese word台 风(TAI-FUNG) which means great wind.

The word tsunami comes from the Japanese word meaning port. 津波

The word cyclone comes from modifications of the Greek word kyklōma which means wheel and is derived from kyklos, meaning circle.

Focus questions

- 1. What exactly would children learn from these resources and activities?
- 2. How might they be adapted for your own context? (subject, age group etc)
- 3. Can you think of other activities in other subjects?
- 4. What obstacles might there be to you doing this kind of activity? How might you get over them in order to include at least some aspects of this kind of learning?
